TANEY COUNTY REPUBLICAN BY W. H. AND R. B. PRICE,

Taney County

TANEY is the fourth county from the west line of the state, in the extreme southern tier, and so bordering on Arkansas and en-joying to its fullness the wonderful climate of the "Sunny Side" of the Ozarks, where the temperature rarely touches zero in winter and the uights in summer are always cool enough to make shown a delight of the 'Sunny Side of the Orars's, where the temperature farely touches zero in winter and the unghts in summer are always cool enough to make sheep a delight.

The county contains 650 square miles, 442,000 acress, of which about 67,000 acres are under improvement. The soil varies from the rich alluvial bottoms to the strong limestone soils of the ridges, producing successfully wheat, on which the county was swarded the silver medal at the Louisiana Purchase exposition, corn second to none, (a stalk grown this season on display in this office measurang 17 feet in length.) potatoes, cotton, melons, tame grasses, berties, fruits, vegetables, in fact everything except tropical products. Pears and peaches do especially well.

The surface is rugged and picturesque, covered with forests and traversed by streams of sparking clearness, among them the beautiful Whiteliver, famed for its scenery and its finny tribes, including the gamey black bass and lack salmon, while the wonded expanses abound in small game of various kinds, including fox, raccoon, oposoom, squirred, quail and turkey, affording abundant recreation with rod and guin.

The population of the county by the last census was 10,127, only two of a hom were colored and all but 99 American born. The county tax is but 60 cents on the $100, and there is practically no county debt. Wood for fuel is plentiful and cheap, selling in Forsyth for $1 a wagon-load with side-boards. Church and school facilities are fair and increasing, many of the schools manifesting such a spirit of up-to-date-was as to provide libraries for the use of pupils. Improved larms are valued at $10 to $30 an acre, while unimproved lards can be had at $1.25 to $8. There are still about $00 acres of government lands, subject to homestead or cash entry. The county is finely watered, the White river alone winding in and out for about a hundred miles within its barders.

There is considerable timber of commercial value, including hickory, whiteoak, wainut, pite and ociar, and vast mineral wealth, a enger steamer will be put on the river next star mer, greatly stimulating activity in every direction, and sending values upward. Now is the time to get in right and reap the benefits.

The President on the Work of Congress.

President Roosevelt in a recent letter to Congressman James E. Watson, of Rushville, Indiana, reviews the work of the recent session of congress in a manner so interesting and discriminating that we feel justified in breaking it up into such instalments as will be available for our limited space, for the benefit of Republican readers regardless of politics. Here is the first installment of the letter: through Speaker Cannon and Reprecongressional committee for the entire even now being made to the ratification wrongs may be increased. campaign, without regard to the ef- of the Santo Domingo treaty, which is She has left everything to devote herfeel that all good citizens, who have appreciate the immense amount that has been accomplished by the present tion in power.

With Mr. Cannon as speaker, the phenomenal amount of good work. It patriotism such that it would be a real and serious misfortune for the country to fail to recognize. To change the house at this time means to bring coning out of a great and comprehensive scheme for the betterment of our social, industrial and civic conditions. Such a change would substitute a purposeless confusion, a violent and hurtful oscillation in between the positions of the extreme radical and the extreme reactionary for the present orderly progress along the lines of a carefully thought-out policy.

The interests of this nation are varied as they are vast. Congress must take account, not of one national need, but of many and widely different national needs, and I speak with historic accuracy when I say that not in our time has any congress done so well in so many different fields of endeavor as the present congress has done. No changes can do any good. Still less can it in one session meet every need. At its first session the present congress. in addition to many tasks it actually completed, undertook several tasks which I firmly believe it will bring to completion in its second session next winter. Among these I hope and believe that the bills to prohibit political contributions by corporations and to lower the duties on imports from the Philippine islands, each of which has been passed by one house, will be enacted into law. I hope, and I have reason to believe, that favorable action will be taken upon the bill limiting the number of hours of employment of railway employes. These and one or two other measures, the enactment of which I have reason to hope for, are important. But far more important are the measures that have actually been passed, and, as to these measures, serve the welfare of our people as a whole, of our nation as an entirety. They are important because those who enacted them into law thereby showed themselves to be fit representatives of

In affairs outside of our own country our great work has been beginning to dig the Panama canal. The acquisition of the canal strip was due to the initiative of congress; and the fact that the work thereon is now being done in the most thorough and satisfactory fashion is due to the action of the present congress at the session just closed. Only this action rendered the work possible, and the heartiest acknowledgments are due to the far-seeing patriotism of DeWitt White charged with shoot- nation.
